

York: Human Rights
City

CHILDREN'S RIGHTS, HUMAN RIGHTS?

Do children deserve to have 'human' rights? To what extent are those rights respected? When do children's rights become human rights?

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child, adopted in November 1989, is the world's most ratified treaty.

But do children really have 'human' rights? To what extent are those rights respected? When do children's rights become human rights?

Join us for a panel event in which we will celebrate the Convention on the Rights of the Child, and explore how young people's rights change in law during the transition from childhood to adulthood.

7:00pm Tuesday 4th June York St John University Room SK/037

Education

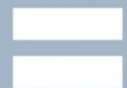

Housing

Decent standard of living

Health &
Social Care

Equality & non-discrimination